The authentic beauty of the Apulian landscape, with its ancient rural traditions and charming villages, creates a truly evocative setting.

Perched on a hill overlooking the surrounding olive groves and the Adriatic coast, its historic centre is a delight to explore, with the impressive Cathedral, Piazza della Libertà and picturesque streets lined with cafés, restaurants and artisan shops, creating an atmosphere full of timeless Mediterranean charm.

The surrounding countryside is equally captivating, forming part of the beautiful Itria Valley, where ancient olive trees, vineyards, dry-stone walls, trulli and historic masserie create the quintessential Puglian landscape. Charming towns such as Ceglie Messapica, Cisternino, Locorotondo, Martina Franca and Alberobello are all within easy reach, offering a mix of local traditions and excellent food. Alberobello, renowned for its concentration of trulli, has been a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 1996.
